COUNCIL CORNER

By Deputy Mayor Zornes

Happy Spring Everyone! “Bridges” might be Bothell’s middle name. We have “bridges” for our vehicles, bikes, feet and with each other. Our winter issue spoke to the idea of building and strengthening community. Another “bridge” that I’d like to focus on is for pollinators - one that promotes robust thriving pollinators for our part of the planet.

Pollination happens when a pollen grain moves from the anther of a flower to the stigma. This starts a process that produces seeds, fruits, and the next generation of plants. Often, we rely on bees, butterflies, birds, bats, moths, flies, beetles, wasps, and small mammals for pollination. They move pollen from spot to spot when they visit flowers to drink nectar or feed off the pollen.

Bothell needs to foster pollinating bridges not only between our varied communities, but with our neighboring cities. A healthy pollinating community results in thriving local flora and fauna, as well as food for us.

How can we make Bothell a “Pollinating Bridge”?

Yes, it’s a thing. Across the country, communities are becoming more purposeful in how they support pollinators, especially as their numbers decline. The city has been quite diligent in environmental health for Bothell. Within these pages you will read great news on our pesticide free parks, natural yard care workshops, volunteering, and Earth Day activities.

What can you do? Think about planting natives with varied blooming times to support the nutritional needs of our bees, butterflies, hummingbirds, bats, etc. Maybe a packet of wildflowers, free of invasive seeds, blooming off the beaten path would bring you joy. Perhaps, you’d like to try creating your own mix of flowers and vegetables with individual seeds that work well in our area. You’ll find more information in this issue about pollination and even more resources on our city website at www.bothellwa.gov/pollinators.

Whatever inspires your touch, whether it’s in your yard, on a porch, or a deck, we can build this bridge!

MEET YOUR CITY COUNCIL

CITY MANAGER'S MESSAGE

Former Wayne Golf Course Update by Jennifer Phillips, City Manager

As the weather starts to warm up and days get longer, we'll start to see more and more people out enjoying our many parks, open spaces, and trails. A favorite place for many to go is our 89-acre Former Wayne Golf Course. I believe the stretch of the Sammamish River Trail from the Park at Bothell Landing to the Former Wayne Golf Course is most beautiful and inspiring. How fortunate are we to have these amenities in our community? The purchase of these acres was celebrated by our community and now we are moving into the next phase. A few months ago, we held an information session to learn more about Wayne and what is next. If you weren't able to attend, you can find all the meeting materials at www.bothellwa.gov/Wayne.

The City used grants to purchase 85 acres of the property, requiring they be maintained only as "passive use" areas, salmon habitat, or wetland restoration areas.

These areas cannot be developed and come with strict conservation requirements.

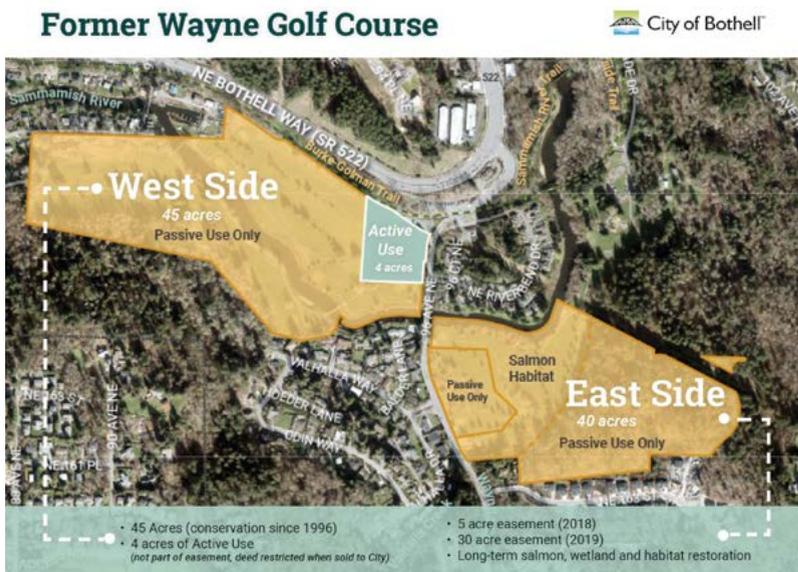

During purchase negotiations, the City paid full market value for four acres in the middle (where the old clubhouse and parking lot are). This allows future City Councils to thoughtfully develop a public amenity there in the future. It must complement the park, and several things are prohibited – no housing, no manufacturing, no offices. It was envisioned to be the economic engine of the park, generating revenue to help the City fund the costs of maintaining and restoring the 85 acres of open space.

To learn more about that active space, we recently commissioned a comprehensive financial feasibility study and market analysis, so that we could have some data. What is the market demand? What kind of permissible development could potentially succeed there? We own this land in perpetuity, so what could a public-private partnership and long-term lease look like? This data (and there is a lot of it in the study!) gives us better information and statistics, so that we can make sound and informed decisions with our community.

Over the next few months, we will draft a broad Request for Proposals (RFP). The RFP will not dictate a particular project, or type of restaurant or hotel. We are optimistic that interested and qualified developers will present visionary projects that meet our community values, complement the character of the park, and be financially sound.

To stay up to date on this project and follow the proposal process, sign up for our city eNews at www.bothellwa.gov/notifyme.

Census 2020

Do you remember the last time we had a Census? 2010 was a long time ago! The census is a brief questionnaire used to count every person living in the United States and five U.S. territories. The 2020 Census is required by the Constitution, and the United States has counted its population every 10 years since 1790. This year will be the first time that we will be able to complete the Census online.

You should receive an invitation in the mail from the U.S. Census Bureau sometime in March. Every household will be able to complete the simple questionnaire online, by phone, or by mail.

It's very important for everyone in our community to be counted! Why should you complete it?

- Census data informs how billions of dollars are allocated every year to health clinics, schools, affordable housing, and hundreds of other critical services and programs that make a difference in our lives every day.
- Senior services, emergency management, fire stations, job training, water treatment, public housing, veteran programs, community centers, literacy programs, and parks can all be impacted by Census data.
- It ensures you receive fair representation by your elected leaders. Results are used to reapportion the House of Representatives, determining how many seats each state gets.
- After each decade's census, state officials redraw the boundaries of the congressional and state legislative districts in their states to account for population shifts.

- Local governments, including the City of Bothell, use census data to understand the demographics of our community and it helps us better serve you.
- It's against the law for the Census Bureau to publicly release your responses in any way that could identify you or your household.
- It only takes a few minutes to complete, but the data has a huge impact for many years to come.

Visit 2020census.gov for details or call us if you have any questions or concerns!

Property Taxes 101

Spring doesn't always bring positive news and a sense of hope - it's also tax season. You have probably just received your property tax statement in the mail. Did you notice the City of Bothell only receives a small portion of your entire tax bill, about 18-20% depending on which county you live in? The rest of your payment goes to the school district, King or Snohomish County, other state agencies, and other taxing districts.

Are there any new City taxes in 2020?

Bothell property owners will see one new tax in 2020; the first payments on our 2018 voter-approved capital bond to rebuild two fire stations. Bothell property owners did not make bond payments in 2019 because design and construction are not scheduled to begin until winter and spring of 2020. You can track the design and construction progress at bothellwa.gov/safebothell.

Tax Relief Programs

If you, or someone you know, is a senior citizen, disabled, or has a fixed or limited income there are several programs available to help you reduce the amount of property taxes you owe. This year, the income thresholds and residency requirements for the Senior Citizen/Disabled Persons Property Tax Exemption Program have changed, so be sure to check if you qualify. Learn more at:

Bring Your Own Bag to Bothell

Single-use plastic carryout bags will be restricted in Bothell starting on April 22, 2020, the 50th anniversary of Earth Day. Like many surrounding cities, this ordinance means that plastic bags will no longer be given out at checkout. Businesses can provide recycled-content paper bags or reusable bags to customers. A minimum 10-cent fee, kept by the business, will be charged for paper bags. Customers using vouchers or electronic benefits cards under food assistance programs are exempt from paying the charge.

Why is Bothell restricting single-use plastic carryout bags?

To improve recycling

Plastic bags are no longer accepted in curbside recycling. Plastic bags get tangled in sorting machinery and contaminate other types of recyclables. Instead, find a drop-off location to recycle your plastic bags and film at plasticfilmrecycling.org.

To decrease litter

Plastic bags increase litter in our parks and open spaces.

To protect the environment

Plastics never fully degrade, breaking down into smaller and smaller pieces but remaining in our soil and waterways. Even in our landfill, it takes up to 1000 years for plastic bags to break down.

Find out more, including answers to frequently asked questions, at www.bothellwa.gov/reduceplastic.

We Are Celebrating All Month

April 22 is the 50-year anniversary of Earth Day. To celebrate, University of Washington Bothell (UWB), Cascadia College (CC), and City of Bothell are partnering to help you learn about the past, present, and future of sustainability in our region. Events are available throughout the month of April to increase sustainability awareness in the community and decrease our impact on the planet.

May is Puget Sound Starts Here Month

Puget Sound needs your help

City of Bothell is working with hundreds of organizations across Puget Sound to protect water quality. During this May's Puget Sound Starts Here Month we challenge you to do at least one action that helps keep Puget Sound healthy.

A few ideas to try:

- Take care of your yard naturally by using compost and mulch
- Use native plants and trees to soak up rainwater and limit runoff
- Fix auto leaks right away so you don't drip and drive
- Use a commercial car wash or wash your vehicle over grass or gravel
- Pick up your pet's waste and put it in the garbage
- Take your hazardous materials to the Wastemobile (see page 9 for details)
- Make sure your septic system is in good working order

About Puget Sound Starts Here

Puget Sound Starts Here is made up of over 750 organizations working together to raise awareness about how our everyday actions affect the water that makes up Puget Sound. We rely on clean water for our wellbeing and so do salmon and other wildlife that live in our shared habitat.

Rain washes pollution from vehicle leaks, car wash soap, pesticides, fertilizers, and pet waste into storm drains, straight to local streams, lakes, rivers, and Puget Sound. What we do here has an impact on our local waterways and, eventually, on Puget Sound. By making small changes to our daily activities, we can help keep this pollution out of our waterways.

Show your commitment to protecting local streams by taking the Puget Sound Starts Here pledge at www.bothellwa.gov/pssh.

Stop by our Puget Sound Starts Here booth at our Public Works Week event on May 9th!

Honeybees and More: Attracting Northwest Pollinators

April 8, 6:30 – 8:30 p.m., Bothell Operations Center, 21233 20th Avenue SE

Often people only think of honey bees when you say “pollinator.” Come learn about other common Pacific Northwest pollinators we have and why they are important to have around. Many pollinators require special plants and habitat to keep them healthy.

We will talk about companion planting, choosing the right plants to create a pollinator garden, and how to manage garden problems without pesticides. This is an indoor lecture-based workshop.

Weed Management Through Soil Health

April 15, 6:30 – 8:30 p.m., Bothell Operations Center, 21233 20th Avenue SE

The basis for healthy gardens and lawns is healthy soil. Come learn what healthy soil looks like, how it affects plant growth, and how to build healthy soil. Weeds can be an indicator of what's going on underground. We will look at different types of weeds, what they tell you about your soil, and how to control them naturally – without chemicals. We'll also show a demonstration of easy composting system you can do at home to add compost to your soil. This is an indoor lecture-based workshop.

Container Gardening 101: Plant a Mini Pollinator Garden

April 18, 10 a.m. – 12 p.m., Blyth Park, 16950 W Riverside Drive

Ever wanted to create a container garden but never knew how to start? This hands-on workshop will focus on the best soil choices, choosing the right container, and how to pick out pollinator plants. Each participant will have an opportunity to create their own container mini garden full of colorful, pollinator-attracting plants. This is an outdoor hands-on workshop. We will be under cover, but you should dress for the weather and bring a pair of gardening gloves if you can. Space and materials are limited for this class. Registration is required.

Seasonal Yard Care Tips

Did your yard feel ignored over winter? It's time to get outside and spend some quality time with your lawn and garden! Here are a few tips to ensure you have happy plants and healthy soil this spring.

Flowers & vegetables

- Prepare new planting beds and gardens by mixing in 1-3" of compost.
- Pull weeds when they first start growing, while soil is moist and roots are short, before they go to seed.

Tree & shrub beds

- Prepare new tree and shrub beds by mixing compost into the entire bed, not just the planting holes. Or plant trees in native soil and mulch them well.

Lawns

- Start mowing, about 2" high for most lawns, or 1" for bentgrass lawns.
- Grasscycle! Leave the clippings on the lawn to act as free fertilizer.
- For lawns in poor condition, aerate, overseed, and top-dress with ½" of compost.
- Fertilize lawns, if needed, in May with “natural organic” or “slow release” fertilizer.

Learn more about how to care for your yard and garden without chemicals at www.bothellwa.gov/nyc.

Pollinator Gardening 101

What is pollination?

Pollination happens when a pollen grain moves from the anther (male part) of a flower to the stigma (female part). This starts a process that produces seeds, fruits, and the next generation of plants.

Who are the pollinators?

Sometimes flowers are able to pollinate on their own, or the wind and water move pollen. The rest of the time we rely on bees, butterflies, birds, bats, moths, flies, beetles, wasps, and small mammals to move pollen.

Why are pollinators important?

One out of every three bites of food you take is there because of pollinators. Not only do pollinators provide food for us, but they support healthy ecosystems by cleaning the air, stabilizing soils, and supporting wildlife.

How can you help pollinators?

- Use local native plants.
- Choose several colors of flowers, like blue, violet, white, and yellow.
- Know your soil type and use appropriate plants.
- Plant in clusters to create a “target” for pollinators to easily find.
- Plant in areas that aren’t exposed to much wind and have at least partial sun.
- Plan for continuous blooms from spring to fall.
- Create a water source for your pollinators if one isn’t naturally available.
- Leave material from dead branches and logs for pollinators to use as nesting sites.
- Reduce mulch to allow some patches of bare ground for ground-nesting bees.
- Control noxious weeds.

Avoid using pesticides.

Find more details, resources and children’s activities on our website at www.bothellwa.gov/pollinators.

Pesticide Free Parks

As our parks begin to show signs of new life and new blooms, your Parks & Recreation department is also promoting more sustainable practices. We will not be using pesticides to maintain our landscapes! The only exceptions to this are when we are legally required to control noxious weeds, or for safety. We will be changing some of the landscape beds around Bothell to accommodate this pesticide-free approach, as well as mulching and chipping for weed suppression. We will also be calling on volunteers to help us tackle weeds and invasive species, so get your work gloves ready!

We believe that going pesticide-free is the healthy choice for our environment, our families and our community. By taking a fresh look at our practices, we hope to find even more sustainable solutions for managing our amazing parks and open spaces. Come out and play with us this spring!

The Scoop on Dog Poop

If you're a dog owner, you probably already know about Bothell's scooping law (BMC 6.16.011). But do you know what to do with pet waste after you scoop it?

Compost it? NOPE. Residential compost piles don't get hot enough to kill the harmful organisms found in dog poop. Your organics bin is also no place for pet waste. Commercial composting facilities don't want pet waste because it contaminates their compost.

Bury it? NOPE. Burying dog poop allows pathogens and excess nutrients into local streams, and it lets long-lasting bacteria and parasites establish themselves in soils. Some dog owners use in-ground digesters, which are basically like doggie septic systems, but many of them have been known to malfunction frequently.

Scoop it, bag it, and trash it? YES, YES, AND YES! Landfills are designed to keep pet waste contained, monitored, and out of our streams. Choose bags with lots of recycled content over biodegradable bags. "Biodegradable" bags need oxygen in order to degrade, so they're often unable to break down when trapped in the compacted layers in a landfill.

Why does scooping matter? Dog poop is full of harmful bacteria that can make people, pets, and wildlife very sick. When it rains, bacteria from dog poop washes into storm drains where it is then carried directly to the nearest stream, polluting the water. Leaving dog poop in the grass offers a place for bacteria and parasites to thrive, some for months and some for up to four years!

Learn more about what to "doo" and what not to "doo" with pet waste at www.bothellwa.gov/scoop.

Now your friends in neighboring cities have no excuse to not take that class with you. As long as you sign up in advance, our programs no longer have a price difference for residents and non-residents.

Check each program's registration info for details on when Early Bird pricing ends - for most programs, this special rate will expire two weeks before the program's start date.

Bothell Parks & Recreation will make every effort to provide reasonable accommodation for people with special needs. Please contact us three weeks prior to the start of class to discuss accommodations.
